SECTION I: PROGRAM INFORMATION

Enrollment

On this page, enter the number of candidates for an initial teaching credential who are enrolled in the initial teacher preparation programs within your institution of higher education (IHE) or organization. Do not report on the total number of students enrolled in the entire IHE. Do not include individuals who currently hold a teaching credential and are seeking additional licenses or endorsements, or individuals preparing for school-based careers other than classroom teachers (e.g., administrators, guidance counselors).

The Department recognizes that in many cases, candidates voluntarily report their race/ethnicity and gender data, and that in some cases, candidates may choose not to report this information. Please report on the race/ethnicity data you have available, though the data may not be complete. It is not expected that the sum of the enrolled students reported by race/ethnicity or by gender will necessarily equal the total number of students enrolled.

If your IHE offers both traditional and alternative programs, be sure to enter the candidates enrolled in the appropriate reports. For the traditional report, provide only the candidates enrolled in traditional programs within the IHE. For the alternative report, provide only the candidates enrolled in the alternative programs within the IHE.

After entering the enrollment data, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

THIS PAGE INCLUDES:

Enrollment

For the purpose of Title II reporting, an enrolled student is defined as a student who has been admitted to a teacher preparation program, but who has not completed the program during the academic year being reported. An individual who completed the program during the academic year being reported is counted as a program completer and not an enrolled student.

Additional guidance on reporting race and ethnicity data.

Total number of students enrolled in 2016-17	115
Unduplicated number of males enrolled in 2016-17	23
Unduplicated number of females enrolled in 2016-17	92

Provide the number of students in the teacher preparation program in the following categories. Note that you must report on the number of students by ethnicity and race separately. Individuals who are non-Hispanic/Latino will be reported in one of the race categories. Also note that individuals can belong to one or more racial groups, so the sum of the members of each racial category may not necessarily add up to the total number of students enrolled. (§205(a)(1)(C)(ii)(H))

Teachers Prepared

On this page, enter the number of program completers by the subject area in which they were prepared to teach, and by their academic majors. Note that an individual can be counted in more than one academic major and subject area. For example, if an individual is prepared to teach Elementary Education and Mathematics, that individual should be counted in both subject areas. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major or subject area, you may leave the cell blank. Please use the "Other" category sparingly, if there is no similar subject area or academic major listed. In these cases, you should use the text box to describe the subject area(s) and/or the academic major(s) counted in the "Other" category.

If your IHE offers both traditional and alternative programs, be sure to enter the program completers in the appropriate reports. For the traditional report, provide only the program completers in traditional programs within the IHE. For the alternative report, provide only the program completers for the alternative programs within the IHE.

SECTION I: PROGRAM INFORMATION

Program Completers

On this page, enter the total number of individuals who completed the program in AY 2016-17 and the two prior academic years. If you submitted an IPRC last year, the number of program completers for the two prior academic years are pre-loaded from your prior year's report.

A program completer is a person who has met all the requirements of a state-approved teacher preparation program. Program completers include all those who are documented as having met such requirements. Documentation may take the form of a degree, institutional certificate, program credential, transcript or other written proof of having met the program's requirements. In applying this definition, the fact that an individual has or has not been recommended to the state for initial certification or licensure may not be used as a criterion for determining who is a program completer.

An individual cannot be classified as both enrolled and as a program completer at the same time. An enrolled individual is not a program completer. Once an individual has met all the requirements of a state-approved teacher preparation program and becomes a program completer, the individual is no longer classified as enrolled.

After entering the program completers, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

NC A&T State University partners with several school districts where many of our graduates secure employment. Representatives from these LEAs serve on the Council for Educator Preparation Programs and College of Education Advisory Board as well as program-specific advisory councils. Additionally, annual focus groups are conducted with clinical educators (P-12 teachers) and administrators to identify strengths and weaknesses of our preparatory program. These data are used to improve our quality of educator preparation programs. Undergraduate elementary education candidates have the option to receive special education licensure as an add-on to their elementary education license. All general education candidates are required to take coursework in ethics of teaching, culturally relevant pedagogy, and differentiated instruction among other courses that focus on the importance of understanding the learner, the learner's context, the school's context, and ways to alter instruction, the environment, and content information to meet the needs of diverse learners. The preparatory model is driven by an equity framework where fairness and responsiveness to individual learners is the primary focus.

Does your program prepare teachers to:

a. integrate technology effectively into curricula and instruction

- Yes

b. use technology effectively to collect data to improve teaching and learning

- Yes

c. use technology effectively to manage data to improve teaching and learning

2. Provide a description of the evidence that your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to integrate technology effectively into curricula and instruction, and to use technology effectively to collect, manage, and analyze data in order to improve teaching and learning for the purpose of increasing student academic achievement. Include a description of the evidence your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to use the principles of universal design for learning, as applicable. Include planning activities and a timeline if any of the four elements listed above are not currently in place.

The Professional Education Program has adopted the theme "Learn to Lead. Lead to Transform: Equity, Access, and Advocacy" as its core belief to produce "Aggie Educators" (candidates) who work with learners of all ages with varying experiences and approaches to learning. Relying on an inquiry approach to teaching and learning where candidates use critical thinking skills to work collaboratively with stakeholders, the Professional Education Program emphasizes the merging of theoretical and practical knowledge to develop educators who engage, inspire, and encourage learners to explore, discover, and become advocates for lifelong learning and service to humankind. Throughout the Professional Education Program, the development of professional educators at North Carolina A&T is interwoven into the core principles of the "Aggie Educator." Aggie Educators are: Assessment Leaders Global Thinkers Galvanizing Visionaries Inclusive Agents of Change Equitable Educators and Advocates Transformative Scholars. Conceptual Framework These core principles are bound and operationalized via a conceptual framework that ensures the Educator Preparation Program produces high quality educators for 21st century classrooms. This framework emphasizes the specialized discipline knowledge, masterful content pedagogical skills, instructional leadership, and data literacy as well as the appreciation and application of students' cultural assets that highly effective educators must possess to improve the learning context, improve the teaching approach, and to improve student learning. Teacher candidates in our undergraduate and graduate programs learn what attributes of technology promote effective learning in the classroom. Teacher candidates in our undergraduate and graduate programs also learn to use technology to examine content more critically, solve problems, and establish reliability. Teacher candidates are instructed in technology throughout their curricula beginning their freshman year. They initially learn basic technology use, and to integrate it as they further develop their practice. They are required to identify resources that can be used to assist in their instruction, many of which are technological in nature. Key to the use and application of technology to collect, manage, and analyze data and effectively integrate it into the classroom is the College of Education's model elementary classroom. This classroom is designed for teacher candidates in our undergraduate and graduate programs to practice teaching in a classroom simulation space that mirrors a classroom in a traditional classroom setting. All methods courses at both the graduate and undergraduate level are held in the model classroom. Key to candidate interaction with technology during instruction is the technology available for use in the model classroom. Candidates have access to a variety of instructional technologies including, (1) a small computer lab with the latest education software, (2) an interactive smart board with a wide variety of educational resources included, (3) a class set of iPad minis that integrate with the interactive smart board, and (4) ELMO clickers that allow elementary students to poll interactively and simultaneously for immediate feedback. In order to provide feedback from peers and other observers and generate discussion, the model classroom is equipped with an interactive camera system that allows observers to view the lesson conducted in the model classroom remotely via a television. Moving forward, faculty in the educator preparation program will integrate the use of candidate-directed video of their instruction and analysis of their video using technology like Go React where faculty can provide feedback to candidates at select points of their recordings. Additionally, faculty will integrate more technologically based assessment solutions into the candidate preparation model so candidates develop their ability to assess P-12 student learning via technology.

Teacher Training

On this page, review the questions about how your program trains general education teachers and special education teachers. For the purposes of these questions, general education teachers means those who are not specifically prepared as special education teachers. Teacher Training

Provide the following information about your teacher preparation program. Please note that choosing 'yes' indicates that your teacher preparation program would be able to provide evidence upon request.

(§205(a)(1)(G))

1. Does your program prepare general education teachers to:

a. teach students with disabilities effectively

- Yes
- No

b. participate as a member of individualized education program teams

- Yes
- No

c. teach students who are limited English proficient effectively

- Yes
- No

2. Provide a description of the evidence your program uses to show that it prepares general education teachers to teach students with disabilities effectively, including training related to participation as a member of individualized education program teams, as defined in section 614(d)(1)(B) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, and to effectively teach students who are limited English proficient. Include planning activities and a timeline if any of the three elements listed above are not currently in place.

All educator preparation candidates participate in immersion experiences in public school contexts where they must accommodate students with special needs. These experiences which occur prior to the year-long clinical practice experience total 150 hours. During these pre-clinical practice experiences, candidates also engage in coursework where they learn more about best practices content and pedagogical strategies to engage diverse learners. The educator preparation program requires candidates to produce electronic evidences that demonstrate their awareness of their context and their learners as well as their ability to plan instruction and layout the learning environment to engage all learners (i.e., edTPA). Most recently, edTPA has been added to reflect and assess the candidates' ability to plan (Task 1), instruct (Task 2), and assess (Task 3).

3. Does your program prepare special education teachers to:

a. teach students with disabilities effectively

Yes

No

Program does not prepare special education teachers

b. participate as a member of individualized education program teams

Yes

No

Program does not prepare special education teachers

c. teach students who are limited English proficient effectively

Yes

No

Program does not prepare special education teachers

4. Provide a description of the evidence your program uses to show that it prepares special education teachers to teach students with disabilities effectively, including training related to participation as a member of individualized education program teams, as defined in section 614(d)(1)(B) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, and to effectively teach students who are limited English proficient. Include planning activities and a timeline if any of the three elements listed above are not currently in place.

Candidates at North Carolina A&T State University complete the edTPA as part of their general professional education core coursework. The edTPA requires candidates to address the varying cognitive levels, special needs, and performance abilities of learners within their classrooms through thoughtful and strategic instructional planning. Candidates must provide credible evidence of their ability to facilitate learning by developing significant, challenging, and appropriate learning goals consistent with their program area Common Core or Essential Standards. Using pre-assessment data, candidates must design and implement a unit plan that utilizes differentiated lesson plans responding to candidate performance data. Throughout the unit, candidates must use multiple formative assessments that demonstrate student learning, and they must post-assess student understanding and skills at the conclusion of the unit. Candidates analyze this data to determine the extent of student growth throughout the unit; and then they must reflect on their instruction to articulate ways that they would improve their instructional practice in the future. Candidates enrolled in the MAT Special Education program also construct a "Special Education Model Demonstration Capstone Project." This evidence requires candidates to demonstrate proficiency as an effective instructional leader and exert a positive influence on their teacher colleagues. Candidates articulate a project rationale, explore existing scholarly research to substantiate the proposed approach or methodology that they will use, engage in an analysis of P-12 student prior knowledge utilizing formative and summative assessment data, and deliver responsive instruction using research-based strategies. Based on their work, candidates engage in a presentation by sharing their research findings with their colleagues. Beginning with the 2017-2018 academic year, special education candidates will complete and submit education Teacher Performance Assessments (edTPA).
